The Daily Courant.

Wednesday, July 4. 1722.

London, July 4.

[illegible] arrived a Mail from Holland.

Rome, June 2.

THE Count de Almenara, the new Sicilian Viceroy, arrived here last Week from Vienna, and was met some Miles out of Town by the Cardinals d'Althan, Cienfuegos, and the Malteze Ambassadour. Cardinal d'Althan and the Count de Almenara went Yesterday to Albano, and were splendidly treated there by Cardinal Cienfuegos; the two former proceeded afterwards to Nettuno and embarked for Naples, but the Wind turning contrary they are not yet sailed. The Princess Borgheſe is arrived here from Naples, and Cardinal Aquaviva is returned hither from Banaja. It is said, that the Emperour is to give the Dutchy of Massa Carrara to the Pope's Family, and that he will grant an Equivalent in Germany to the Family of Cibo, to whom that Dutchy belongs: 'Tis likewise said, that the Pope is about sending a Brief to the Emperour, to demand the Restitution of Comachio according to the new Agreement between his Holiness and his Imperial Majesty.

Naples, June 16. Cardinal Althan our new Viceroy, is expected here in a few Days; Part of his Equipage is already arrived. The Princess Borgheſe set out Yesterday for Rome, and will be soon followed by the Prince her Husband.

Venice, June 27. Advice is received, that five large Turkish Ships are come to an Anchor within sight of Vallona, having each on board upwards of 800 Janizaries; and that a greater Number of Troops in the Morea are ready to embark. This Account increases Suspicions here of the Port, notwithstanding the late Assurances they have given of keeping the Peace with this Republick; our Regency has therefore thought convenient to send Orders to the Venetian Generals in the Islands of Corfu and Zant to be upon their Guard; and for further Security, two first Rate Men of War will be sent thither with all Expedition.

Toulon, June 15. 'Communication is open with Ollioules, la Roque, and Besse, and all the Vigueree is entirely freed from the Contagion.

Orange, June 17. 'None has fallen sick here these 20 Days past, and for some Days past none in the Country.

Avignon, June 18. 'No Means are neglected to stop the Progress of the Contagion. The five or six Places in the Comtat that were infected are almost cured, there are but three sick Persons remaining in one of those Places. 'Tis certain that one or other frequently falls sick here, but for the most Part of malignant Fevers, and sometimes none fall sick in two Days.

Aix, June 19. 'If M. de Langeron defers his Arrival at Marseilles a little longer he will find Health very much advanced in that Place, for no more than three Persons fell sick the 17th, and Yesterday none. The Contagion is extinguished at Toulon, none have fallen sick there for several Days past, nor likewise at the Bastide of Rouret; all the other Parts of the Province are in great Quietude.

Madrid, June 22. His Catholick Majesty, on the Instances of Colonel Stanhope the British Ambassadour, has sent Directions to his Officers at all the Ports in the Spanish Dominions, to hinder the imbarking of any Persons who are suspected of having any Intercourse with the Pretender or his Adherents; with strict Orders not to suffer any Irish Officers to quit the Dominions of Spain without particular Licence. By Letters from Cadiz of the 15th Instant we have an Account, that the Spanish Squadron had appeared again the Day before in Sight of that Port.

Moscow, June 6. Here is no News yet of the Czar's Arrival at Astracan. Major-General Henning sets out shortly for Siberia, to visit and give Orders for repairing the Iron Forges, and to set up new ones: But before he goes thither, he is to inform himself the best he can of the likeliest Method to put in Execution the Czar's Project to have a Canal made from this Place to Petersbourg. The General Post Revenues are united to the Czar's Treasury, and the chief Management of them, with a yearly Salary, is given to M. Daschof, who was lately the Czar's Envoy at Constantinople.

Stockholm, June 17. The King reviewed some Days ago the Regiment of Foot-Guards, that of Lieutenant-General Horn, and likewise the Artillery; the Review is continued To-day. The Queen having been lightly indisposed a few Days ago, is now so well recovered, as to be able to accompany the King to Medwig, whither the Baron de Ruben set out the 13th Instant, to make the necessary Preparations against the Court's Arrival. Commodore Ulrich, who lately returned to Gottenbourg with the Ships under his Command bound for Madascar, not having proceeded further than Cadiz, arrived here the 15th Instant, and it is reported, that a Commission will be appointed to enquire into the Occasion of his sudden Return, and the Unperformance of his Voyage, from which very considerable Profit had been expected. The Imperial Minister Count Fersen has had communicated to him the Proceedings of the Council of War concerning his Quarrel with Major-General Schwerin, and as soon as he has made his Remarks upon them, he is to present them to the Chancery.

Stockholm, June 24. The Court was very numerous the 22d Instant, to wish their Majesties a good Journey. The Queen set out Yesterday for Stromsholm, designing to stay there till the King comes, his Majesty having deferred his Journey till To-morrow, upon Account of some important Affairs that have intervened. Count Tessin arrived here some Days ago, with a Commission from K. Stanislaus, the Purport of it is said to desire, that his Master may be comprehended in the ensuing Treaty of Peace between Sweden and Poland.

Dresden, July 1. The King set out Yesterday for Pilnitz, after his Majesty had entertained the Prince and Princess Royal at Dinner. The King designs to stay a Day at a Seat of Count Wakerbarth's, and to begin his Journey from thence the 3d or 4th Instant for Warsaw.

Cambray, July 3. Count Windischgratz having the Emperour's Leave to go to Paris for some Days, is to set out on the 6th Instant, with his Lady. Baron Penterriedter accompanies them as far as Chantilly, a Seat of the Duke of Bourbon's within nine Leagues of Paris, and will return hither very speedily.

Paris,

Paris, July 4. M. de Belrieu writes the 25th of June, that he had Intelligence Avignon was ſtill in a bad State, and that the Contagion had newly ſpread into its Territory. Orange and its Diſtrict had from Time to Time ſome taken ſick, but that great Hopes were entertained from the good Order which is obſerved there. M. de Belrieu writes the 28th of June, that he had received Letters from Provence adviſing, that the Plague had not made any Progreſs at Marſeilles, nor in its Territory, nor at Buſtrel, nor at Bouiſſet. He had an Account from Avignon, dated the 22d, that eight or 10 a Day were taken ill, and as many died there, without reckoning thoſe in the Baſtides and Farm-Houſes in that Neighbourhood.
